Working towards your future success

We are a dynamic professional services organisation offering advice to all types of businesses and individuals.

McLean Delmo is led by a group of entrepreneurs whose success in business mirrors the success of many of our clients. Our philosophy is to practice in our own business what we advocate to our clients.

Delivering wealth management

Wealth management involves maximising the productive power of existing assets as well as creating new wealth.

Our clients benefit from a comprehensive wealth creation service enhanced by management accounting, taxation, financial planning and finance and lending expertise.

Services and resources to respond to your business needs

At McLean Delmo we are convinced that quality business and financial advice is just as much about people as it is about facts and figures. Our team of 100 qualified professionals will work with you to ensure your business needs are met and to offer value added services as required.

We deliver all the facilities associated with a large accounting firm, while still providing you with personalised, hands-on service. Collectively our people offer a wide range of skills and bring substantial commercial experience to any project.

Our membership of Kreston International – a world wide network of experienced, independent accounting and business advisory firms – means we can look after clients throughout Australia and in all parts of the world.

Audit and Assurance

McLean Delmo's Audit and Assurance division provides specialist advisory services and effective solutions to ensure all rules and regulations are met.

With access to an extensive network of technical knowledge through our national and international associations, we are ideally placed to help clients achieve their objectives.

We see any audit assurance assignment as much more than just a report on your organisation's past performance. The result of employing an effective assurance process is that you will be better equipped to consider and implement improvements to your business systems and procedures.

These improvements will add value and support the future growth of your business.

Accounting and Taxation

The complexities, development and constant changes associated with running a business often demand reliable and specific advice.

McLean Delmo offers a range of professional accounting and taxation value-added services that ensure effective, efficient and practical control of business performance.

Taxation legislation is very complex and its applications and impact are wide-reaching. The very nature and extent of the taxation regime can involve rapid and significant changes in the legislation and its interpretation and/or application.

Our tax services enable our clients to manage their taxation responsibilities effectively and include comprehensive advice and assistance across all tax related issues.

Our priority is to grow and partner you in your personal and business goals.

Finance and Lending

McLean Delmo Finance & Lending has an accredited team with strong networks in lender organisations. Our experience dealing with over 30 different financiers provides us with significant purchasing power. This enables our clients to obtain a better financial outcome than if they approached the financier directly. We can direct our clients to the right financier for their situation and provide access to senior people within those organisations.

This approach saves business owners time and money as we can prepare, structure and negotiate pricing and loan covenants to achieve the optimal financial solution.

No matter how complex or simple the circumstances or structures, we are confident in our ability to efficiently deliver cost effective options to benefit you or your business.

We build long term relationships with our clients and pride ourselves on being truly invested in their financial future. Ultimately, your success is our success.

Bookkeeping

Our Bookkeeping service provides our clients with a quality and timely bookkeeping service at a cost effective rate. We maintain a close working relationship between your accountant and the bookkeeper. In this way we are able to streamline and simplify your financial reporting function.

Our bookkeepers are able to perform their services either at your business premises or remotely from our office in accordance with your requirements.
